Empowered,
they serve

A Prathima Venture

Skilling them to succeed

For many the choice is not always about to learn or not to learn. It could possibly be the lack of access to learning or even the awareness that when one gets vocationally empowered, one earns a ticket to economic independence.

Think further. Give non urban areas a thought. Towns, villages, districts. Economically challenged, yet bright young girls. Give them an opportunity and chances are a career they will make. Amongst the India we know in villages, districts and several communities in around Karimnagar we know there is something we can do for them – provide education which empowers and prepares them for the world.

That is how the Prathima Group began the The College & School of Nursing in Karimnagar, Andhra Pradesh. Located within the campus of the Prathima Institute of Medical Sciences, it is a well planned and comprehensively equipped Nursing College.
